

2009-2010 Pine-Richland Summer Reading Program

Students enrolling in the district during the summer must contact the head of the high school English department or their English teacher about a time frame for completion of summer reading assignments. Email addresses are on the district website.

Students: When selecting a book from the ALA website, please do not choose a book that has been taught in one of your classes, or that you have previously read, or that is below your reading level.

Parents: If you have questions or concerns about the Summer Reading Program contact your child's English teacher by June 30, 2009. Email addresses are on the website.

College Preparatory English 9

The common book that all students will read in preparation for this course is:

Lord of the Flies

William Golding

Students then choose one book from this website to read in the summer: www.ala.org/yalsa/booklists/obcb (copy & paste link into web browser)

Disclaimer: The books on the American Library Association website represent a cross section of young adult literature and do not reflect an across the board endorsement by the PRSD. However, parents are encouraged to help their children choose a book from the website that is appropriate for them.

Students should be prepared for an objective test/writing assessment of their summer reading within the first two weeks of school. A different form of assessment will be used for the website selection.

Honors /PreAP 9

The common book that all students will read in preparation for this course is:

Lord of the Flies

William Golding

Students then choose two books from this list to read in the summer:

African Queen

C.S. Forester

House on Mango Street

Sandra Cisneros

Alas, Babylon

Pat Frank

Students should be prepared for an objective test/ writing assessment of their summer reading within the first two weeks of school.

College Preparatory English 10

The common book that all students will read in preparation for this course is:

Fahrenheit 451

Ray Bradbury

Students then choose one book from this website to read in the summer: www.ala.org/yalsa/booklists/obcb (copy & paste link into web browser)

Disclaimer: The books on the American Library Association website represent a cross section of young adult literature and do not reflect an across the board endorsement by the PRSD. However, parents are encouraged to help their children choose a book from the website that is appropriate for them.

Students should be prepared for an objective test/writing assessment of their summer reading within the first two weeks of school. A different form of assessment will be used for the website selection.

Honors /PreAP 10

The common book that all students will read in preparation for this course is:

Fahrenheit 451

Ray Bradbury

Students then choose two books from this list to read in the summer:

All Quiet on the Western Front

Erich Maria Remarque

The Bell Jar
One Day in the Life of Ivan Denesovich

Sylvia Plath
Alexander Solzhenitsyn

Students should be prepared for an objective test/ writing assessment of their summer reading within the first two weeks of school.

2009-2010 PR Summer Reading Program cont.

College Preparatory English 11

The common book that all students will read in preparation for this course is:

Grapes of Wrath

John Steinbeck

Students then choose one book from this website to read in the summer: <http://www.ala.org/yalsa/booklists/obcb> (copy & paste link into web browser)

Disclaimer: The books on the American Library Association website represent a cross section of young adult literature and do not reflect an across the board endorsement by the PRSD. However, parents are encouraged to help their children choose a book from the website that is appropriate for them.

Students should be prepared for an objective test/writing assessment of their summer reading within the first two weeks of school. A different form of assessment will be used for the website selection.

---

Honors 11

The common book that all students will read in preparation for this course is:

Grapes of Wrath

John Steinbeck

Students then choose two books from this list to read in the summer:

Piano Lesson
The Awakening
The Crucible

August Wilson
Kate Chopin
Arthur Miller

Students should be prepared for an objective test/ writing assessment of their summer reading within the first two weeks of school.

---

College Preparatory English 12

The common book that all students will read in preparation for this course is:

Brave New World

Aldous Huxley

Students then choose one book from this website to read in the summer: <http://www.ala.org/yalsa/booklists/obcb> (copy & paste link into web browser)

Disclaimer: The books on the American Library Association website represent a cross section of young adult literature and do not reflect an across the board endorsement by the PRSD. However, parents are encouraged to help their children choose a book from the website that is appropriate for them.

Students should be prepared for an objective test/writing assessment of their summer reading within the first two weeks of school. A different form of assessment will be used for the website selection.

---

Honors 12

The common book that all students will read in preparation for this course is:

Brave New World

Aldous Huxley

Students then choose two books from this list to read in the summer:

The Bean Trees
Pride and Prejudice
The Road

Barbara Kingsolver
Jane Austen
Cormac McCarthy

Students should be prepared for an objective test/ writing assessment of their summer reading within the first two weeks of school.

Students taking AP 11 or AP 12 next year need to see their AP teacher for titles and summer reading assignments before the end of the school year.